A Class Act

April 2022

CABHC: 2022-026 Photograph of class at Victoria School in Tweed, 1920

Judson Byron Hastings (1876-1949) was a Toronto photographer who specialized in taking school photographs. In this example, recently donated by Ed Wolk, the neatly posed members of class R2 at Victoria School in Tweed are joined by other children in the windows of the school building. One of them has her hands raised like claws and is snarling at the camera. We also notice that several of the children in the front row have nothing on their feet.

We don't know the identities of the teacher or any of the children in this photograph: let us know if you have any information!

First group visit since 2019

A recent visit by a group from the Probus Club of Belleville marked a new stage in the reopening of the Community Archives since the pandemic first struck in 2020. We have not been able to host groups of visitors for tours of our facility due to the various closures and restrictions in force during the past two years.

It was a pleasure to display some of the records held here at the archives and to be able to share their stories with the visitors.
